NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

JAMES LA VELL HARRIS,

Plaintiff,

vs.

CLEARLAKE POLICE DEPARTMENT, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No.: 12-0864-YGR

ORDER GRANTING IN PART AND DENYING IN PART DEFENDANTS' MOTION TO DISMISS

Plaintiff James Harris filed a Complaint for Declaratory and Prospective Relief and Demand for Jury Trial against the City of Clearlake ("City") (erroneously sued as Clearlake Police Department),<sup>1</sup> and individual Defendants, Craig Clausen, Acting Chief of Police ("Clausen"); Tim Celli, Supervisor of Sargent Tim Hobbs ("Celli"); Tim Hobbs, police officer with rank of Sargent ("Hobbs"); and B. Middleton, police officer with rank of Officer ("Middleton"), (collectively, "Defendants").<sup>2</sup> (Dkt. No. 1 ("Compl.").) Plaintiff alleges four causes of action: (1) False Arrest and False Imprisonment for the September 3, 2011 traffic arrest, (2) Conspiracy and Retaliation in causing False Arrest, (3) Conspiracy and Retaliation in causing loss of personal property, and (4) False Arrest and False Imprisonment for the February 13, 2012 home arrest. Plaintiff brings his action under Title 42 U.S., Sections 1981, 1983, and 1985(3); the Fourth, Eighth, and Fourteenth Amendments of the United States Constitution; and Article I of the California State Constitution. Plaintiff seeks nominal, compensatory and punitive damages amounting to one million dollars.

<sup>1</sup> Defendants appear to argue that Plaintiff erroneously sues the Clearlake Police Department ("Police Department") rather than the City. If Plaintiff seeks to amend his Complaint, he should identify the proper Defendant.

1       On May 15, 2012, Defendants filed a Motion to Dismiss for failure to state a claim pursuant to 2 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). (Dkt. No. 15 ("Motion").) On May 22, 2012, Plaintiff filed
3 an Opposition to Defendants' Motion to Dismiss. (Dkt. No. 18 ("Oppo.").) Defendants filed their 4 Reply in support of their Motion to Dismiss on June 5, 2012. (Dkt. No. 20 ("Reply").) The Court
5 held a hearing on the Motion on July, 10 2012. (Dkt. No. 22)

6       Having carefully considered the papers submitted and the pleadings in this action, and for the 7 reasons set forth below, the Court hereby:

- 8       1. DENIES Defendants' Motion to Dismiss as to that portion of the First Claim for false arrest
9                   and false imprisonment under the Fourth Amendment for the September 3, 2011 traffic
10                  arrest;
- 11       2. DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND as to that portion of the Second Claim for conspiracy
12                  and retaliation for false arrest under section 1985(3);
- 13       3. DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND as to that portion of the Third Claim for conspiracy
14                  and retaliation for cause of loss of personal property under section 1985(3);
- 15       4. DENIES the Motion to Dismiss as to that portion of the Fourth Claim for false arrest and 16                  false imprisonment under the Fourth Amendment for February 13, 2012 house arrest.
- 17       5. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include a 1983 Claim against the 18                  City based upon Monell v. Dep't of Soc. Servs., 436 U.S. 658, 690 (1978) ("Monell"). The
19                  Court therefore DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND the section 1983 Monell claim
20                  against the City.
- 21       6. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include an Eighth Amendment
22                  Claim based upon the False Imprisonment Claims. The Court therefore DISMISSES
23                  WITHOUT LEAVE TO AMEND the Eighth Amendment Claim for Cruel and Unusual
24                  Punishment.
- 25       7. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include a Fourteenth Amendment
26                  Claim for violation of Equal Protection based upon the False Arrest Claims. The Court
27                  therefore DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND the Fourteenth Amendment Claim for Equal
28                  Protection.

1       8. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include a Fourteenth Amendment
 2       Claim for violation of Due Process based upon the False Arrest Claims. The Court
 3       therefore DISMISSES WITHOUT LEAVE TO AMEND the Fourteenth Amendment Claim for
 4       Due Process.

5       9. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include a 1981 Claim based upon the
 6       False Arrest Claims. The Court therefore DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND the 1981
 7       Claim for Racial Discrimination under the Color of Law.

8       10. DENIES the Motion to Dismiss Defendants Clausen, Celli, Hobbs and Middleton based on 9       Qualified Immunity.

10      11. GRANTS THE MOTION TO STRIKE the Punitive Damages claim as against Defendants the
 11       City, Clausen, and Celli. DENIES THE MOTION TO STRIKE as against Hobbs and 12       Middleton.

13      I. FACTUAL AND PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

14      On September 3, 2011, at about 10:00 a.m., Plaintiff was stopped and detained, and after a 15      period of about forty minutes, arrested by Defendant Hobbs for "resisting arrest."<sup>3</sup> Compl.<sup>4</sup> at ¶¶ 7 at 16      5. While detained, Hobbs told Plaintiff that he "needed to stop doing paperwork. That isn't good for 17      you. You should stop." Id. at ¶ 8 at 5. Defendant issued Plaintiff a Traffic Citation and a "Verbal 18      Notice by Peace Officer, DMV or Court Employee," both of which Plaintiff did not sign and instead
 19      wrote "without prejudice." Id. at ¶ 9 at 5; Motion at 3. Plaintiff was not given a copy of the Citation 20      as he was arrested immediately after not signing his traffic citation.<sup>5</sup> Compl. at ¶ 9 at 5. Plaintiff was

 23      <sup>3</sup> Although not referenced in the Complaint, Cal. Pen. Code § 148(a) allows a peace officer to arrest a person who willfully
 24      resists, delays, or obstructs in an officer in discharge of his official duties.

25      <sup>4</sup> Plaintiff mis-numbers the paragraphs in his Complaint starting at ¶ 16 on page 4. The Complaint starts to renumber on p.
 26      5 beginning with "¶ 6." To distinguish between duplicate paragraphs, all citations to the Complaint include the paragraph 27      number and page number as follows: "Compl. at ¶ _ at #."

28      <sup>5</sup> Although not referenced in the Complaint, Cal. Veh. Code § 40302(b) requires individuals who refuse to sign a written 29      promise to appear in court to be "taken without unnecessary delay before a magistrate within the county in which the 30      offense charged is alleged to have been committed and who has jurisdiction of the offense and is nearest or most 31      accessible with reference to the place where the arrest is made."

1 released four days later on September 7, 2011 without any charges.<sup>6</sup> Id. at ¶ 24 at 7. Upon returning
2 home on September 7, 2011, Plaintiff discovered certain items missing from his home, specifically 3 eighteen medical/spiritual marijuana plants, two computer towers, and a wireless camera and its 4 receiver.<sup>7</sup> Id. at ¶ 31 at 8-9.

5 On December 15, 2011, Plaintiff met with Defendant Celli at the Clearlake Police Department
6 to try to obtain a copy of the Traffic Citation and Verbal Notice issued by Hobbs on September 3, 7 2011. Compl. at ¶ 17 at 6. While Plaintiff received a copy of the Verbal Notice on September 7, 8 2011 in the mail, Plaintiff's request for his Traffic Citation was rejected. Id. at ¶¶ 15 at 6; 17 at 6.
9 Instead, Plaintiff was told to speak to Defendants' lawyer to get a copy of his Traffic Citation. Id. at ¶ 10 17 at 6.

11 On February 13, 2012, at about 4:35 p.m., Defendant Middleton arrested Plaintiff while at 12 home for "resisting arrest" within five minutes of opening his front door. Compl. at ¶ 18-20 at 6.
13 Plaintiff states that when he inquired as to the nature and purpose of the investigation, Officer
14 Middleton told him to "not yell across the fence at his neighbors" as it violated the alleged temporary 15 restraining order that had been placed on him by his neighbors. Id. at ¶ 19 at 6. Plaintiff asserts that 16 he had not been served with notice of the restraining order and when he sought to inquire further,
17 Defendant "placed him in handcuffs and told him he was under arrest" (although Defendant later 18 asserted that he was just being detained). Id. Plaintiff was later charged for (1) resisting arrest under 19 Pen. Code § 148(a), and (2) unlawfully fighting in a public place and maliciously disturbing another 20 person by a loud and unreasonable noise under Pen. Code § 415. Id. at ¶ 20 at 6-7. Plaintiff was 21 released two days later on February 15, 2012 without any charges. Id. at ¶ 34 at 9.

22

23 <sup>6</sup> Defendants note that Plaintiff was released on Wednesday, September 7, 2011, because he was arrested on the Saturday
24 before Labor Day and the courts did not reopen until Tuesday, September 6; Plaintiff was released the following day.
Motion at 8.

25 <sup>7</sup> Plaintiff's Opposition also distinguishes this "break in" of his house from previous break ins in 2005 and 2009. Oppo. at 26 7-9. Plaintiff asserts that this break in differed because his marijuana plants were cut down as opposed to his supplies and 27 paraphernalia (seeds, pipes, papers, etc.) being stolen as had previously occurred. Id. at 7-8. Also, the wires of the computer towers were also neatly unplugged rather than cut or ripped out. Id. at 8-9. Plaintiff also notes that in previous 28 break ins, all items of value (jewelry, TV, digital camera, etc) had been stolen and his computers had been left untouched since they have little intrinsic value. However, in this break in, Plaintiff asserts that his computers were stolen for the data which was priceless and necessary to preparing his other cases against the City. Id.

1 II. DISCUSSION

2 Defendants move to dismiss Plaintiff's Complaint for failure to state a claim pursuant to Fed.
3 R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6). Defendants contend as follows. First, Plaintiff did not suffer a deprivation of a
4 constitutionally protected interest. Second, if Plaintiff was deprived of a constitutionally protected
5 interest, Defendants did not cause such deprivation through an official policy, custom or usage of the 6 Police Department. Third, Defendants are entitled to qualified immunity. Finally, Plaintiff fails to 7 plead his conspiracy claims with adequate specificity. Motion at 2. The issue before the Court is 8 whether Plaintiff alleges with sufficient specificity to survive a 12(b)(6) motion to dismiss.

9 A. Legal Standard for Motion for to Dismiss under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6)

10 A motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6) tests the sufficiency of a complaint, facilitating 11 dismissal to the extent the pleading fails to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Fed. R.
12 Civ. P. 12(b)(6). "Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2) requires only a 'short and plain statement 13 of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief,' in order to 'give the defendant fair notice of 14 what the claim is and the grounds upon which it rests.'" Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S.
15 544, 554 (2007) ("Twombly") (quoting Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2)). The pleading is construed in the light
16 most favorable to the non-moving party and all material allegations in it are taken to be true. Sanders
17 v. Kennedy, 794 F.2d 478, 481 (9th Cir. 1986). However, even under the liberal pleading standard of 18 Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a)(2), "a plaintiff's obligation to provide the grounds of his 19 entitlement to relief requires more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the 20 elements of a cause of action will not do." Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555 (citing Papasan v. Allain, 478
21 U.S. 265, 286 (1986) (internal brackets and quotation marks omitted)). Hence, the Court need not 22 assume unstated facts, nor will it draw unwarranted inferences. Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 679
23 (2009) ("Iqbal") ("Determining whether a complaint states a plausible claim for relief . . . [is] a
24 context-specific task that requires the reviewing court to draw on its judicial experience and common 25 sense."); Cousins v. Lockyer, 568 F.3d 1063, 1067 (9th Cir. 2009); Sprewell v. Golden State Warriors, 26 266 F.3d 979, 988 (9th Cir. 2001) ("Nor is the court required to accept as true allegations that are 27 merely conclusory, unwarranted deductions of fact, or unreasonable inferences.").

1       Under Twombly, a plaintiff must not merely allege conduct that is conceivable but must 2 instead allege “enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.” 550 U.S. at 570.
3 “A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows the court to draw
4 the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 5 679 (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 556). “The plausibility standard is not akin to a probability 6 requirement, but it asks for more than a sheer possibility that a defendant has acted unlawfully. . . .
7 When a complaint pleads facts that are merely consistent with a defendant’s liability, it stops short of 8 the line between possibility and plausibility of entitlement to relief.” Id. (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S.
9 at 556–57) (internal quotation marks omitted). In sum, if the facts alleged foster a reasonable
10 inference of liability—stronger than a mere possibility—the claim survives; if they do not, the claim 11 must be dismissed. See Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 679.

12       Ordinarily, a pro se complaint will be liberally construed and held to less stringent standards
13 than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers. See Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89, 94 (2007). The pro 14 se complaint will be dismissed only if it appears beyond a reasonable doubt that the plaintiff can 15 prove no set of facts in support of his claim which would entitle him to relief. Pena v. Gardner, 976
16 F.2d 469, 471 (9th Cir. 1992) (quoting Estelle v. Gamble, 429 U.S. 97, 106 (1976)). As the Ninth 17 Circuit has recently clarified, courts “continue to construe pro se filings liberally when evaluating 18 them under Iqbal. Hebbe v. Pliler, 627 F.3d 338, 342 (9th Cir. 2010). While the standard is higher,
19 our ‘obligation’ remains, ‘where the petitioner is pro se, particularly in civil rights cases, to construe
20 the pleadings liberally and to afford the petitioner the benefit of any doubt.’” Id. (quoting Bretz v.
21 Kelman, 773 F.2d 1026, 1027 n. 1 (9th Cir. 1985) (en banc)). However, the Court “may not supply 22 essential elements of the claim that were not initially pled.” Ivey v. Bd. of Regents of the Univ. of 23 Alaska, 673 F.2d 266, 268 (9th Cir. 1982); see also Ghazali v. Moran, 46 F.3d 52, 54 (9th Cir. 1995)
24 (per curiam) (“Although we construe pleadings liberally in their favor, pro se litigants are bound by 25 the rules of procedure.”).

26       For ease of analysis, the Court will address Plaintiff’s claims by grouping like categories
27 together. As a result, the claims may be addressed out of order.
28

B. Section 1983 Claims

Section 1983 "provides a remedy to individuals whose constitutional rights have been violated by persons acting under color of state law." Caballero v. City of Concord, 956 F.2d 204, 206 (9th Cir. 1992) (internal citations omitted). To state a claim under section 1983, a plaintiff "must show that the defendants (1) acted under color of state law, and (2) deprived the plaintiffs of rights secured by the constitution." Borunda v. Richmond, 885 F.2d 1384, 1391 (9th Cir. 1988) (citing Karim-Panahi v. Los Angeles Police Dep't, 839 F.2d 621, 624 (9th Cir. 1988)).

1. Plaintiff's Monell Claim against the City

Plaintiff argues that his false arrest and false imprisonment without probable cause and loss of personal property violate his constitutional rights pursuant to section 1983. Compl. at ¶ 38 at 10. Specifically, Plaintiff claims that such acts occurred as a direct result of the failures of Defendants Clausen and Celli, to "properly train, supervise, and/or instruct [Defendants Hobbs and Middleton] with regard to proper arrest procedures" and/or "establish policies, practices and/or procedures in compliance with existing law." Id. at ¶¶ 25 at 7; 35 at 9.

"A municipality's failure to train or supervise its employees properly can create section 1983 liability where such failure is 'conscious' or amounts to deliberate indifference to the rights of persons with whom its employees are likely to come into contact." Buckheit v. Dennis, 713 F. Supp. 2d 910, 920 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (citing City of Canton v. Harris, 489 U.S. 378, 388 (1989)). Such deliberate indifference can be shown with evidence that the municipality "had notice of but repeatedly failed to make any meaningful investigation into charges that its agents were violating citizens' constitutional rights." DeCarlo v. Fry, 141 F.3d 56, 61-62 (2d Cir. 1998) (internal citations and quotations omitted). The Supreme Court has noted that "[d]eliberate indifference is a stringent standard of fault, requiring proof that a municipal actor disregarded a known or obvious consequence of his action." Connick v. Thompson, 131 S. Ct. 1350, 1360 (2011) (internal citations and quotations omitted).

A plaintiff must satisfy three elements: (1) the training program is inadequate in relation to the tasks the officers must perform; (2) if the training program is inadequate, it constitutes a policy whereby city officials are deliberately indifferent to the rights of persons with whom the officers come into contact with; and (3) the inadequacy of training must have actually caused the constitutional

1 deprivation. Merrit v. County of Los Angeles, 875 F.2d 765, 770 (9th Cir. 1989) (internal citations
2 and quotations omitted). Recent decisions on the current pleading standard have held that only 3 minimal specificity is required, particularly because the defendants are "likely to hold greater access
4 to relevant evidence as to its policies, customs and practices." Haines v. Brand, No. C-11-1335 EMC, 5 2011 WL 6014459, at *5 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 2, 2011). However, a plaintiff still must allege with 6 sufficient specificity the particular facts that plausibly show that such policy was deliberately
7 indifferent to Plaintiff's constitutional rights. Id. at 5-6.<sup>8</sup>

8 Defendants argue that Plaintiff has not stated a claim because he has not met the deliberate
9 indifference standard in showing that the City had notice of the possibility that police officers were 10 violating citizens' constitutional rights and failed to respond accordingly. Motion at 4. Defendants
11 argue that Plaintiff must produce some evidence that the City had a custom or practice that violated
12 citizens' constitutional rights. Plaintiff alleges the following misconduct from individual Defendants:
13 (1) Hobbs's false arrest and comment regarding paperwork, (2) Celli's denial of giving Plaintiff a copy
14 of his traffic citation, and (3) Middleton's "inquisition" and subsequent false arrest. Compl. at ¶¶ 7-8 15 at 5, 17 at 6, 19-20 at 6-7.

16 Plaintiff's allegations fail to show that Defendant has an inadequate police training program or 17 faulty arrest procedure that causes people to be falsely arrested and falsely imprisoned. Even if each 18 distinct act by Defendants constituted some form of misconduct, it does not establish a policy of 19 deliberate indifference to the rights of those who Defendants come into contact with. City of Canton,
20 489 U.S. at 390-391 (the fact that a "particular officer may be unsatisfactorily trained will not alone
21 suffice to fasten liability on the city, for the officer's shortcomings may have resulted from factors
22 other than a faulty training program."). Plaintiff's allegations also fail to establish that Defendant had 23 any notice that its officers violated the constitutional rights of citizens nor does he allege that such 24 acts resulted from an inadequate training program that gives rise to municipal liability against the 25 City. There are no facts alleged supporting the conclusion that Defendants failed to properly "train, 26

27 <sup>8</sup> In Haines, the court held that plaintiff's specific allegations that - defendants (i) failed to train members to respond to 28 persons seeking sources of physical sustenance and desiring to obtain lay counseling while detained by police, (ii) failed to have adequate resources and relevant training necessary to properly assess every traumatized person, and (iii) that others like plaintiff were targeted for police detentions prior to face to face assessment - were sufficiently specific to identify a relevant custom or policy.

1 supervise, and/or instruct." See Haines v. Brand, 2011 WL 6014459, at *5-6 (plaintiff must identify 2 specific areas in which the defendant's training was deficient; "it is the specific language pertaining to 3 what [d]efendants have done or failed to do that is important.").

4 Since Plaintiff's claim, as written, does not sufficiently articulate a Monell claim, the failure to 5 train claim against the City is DISMISSED WITH LEAVE TO AMEND. If Plaintiff seeks to amend this 6 claim, he must provide facts—not merely conclusions or speculation—regarding the "official policy," 7 "long-standing practice or custom," or faulty training program that resulted in the arresting of 8 individuals without probable cause or how the policy was deliberately indifferent to Plaintiff's rights.
9 Haines, 2011 WL 6014459, at *4-6 (internal citations omitted). These facts must be sufficiently 10 stated such that the Court may reasonably infer that there is a plausible claim.

11 2. Claims for False Arrest and False Imprisonment

12 An "arrest without probable cause violates the fourth amendment and gives rise to a claim for 13 damages under § 1983." Borunda, 885 F.2d at 1391 (internal citation omitted). However, the 14 existence of probable cause, when the underlying facts are disputed, is a question for the jury and 15 cannot be resolved on a motion to dismiss. Id. To state a claim for false arrest under fourth 16 amendment rationale, "a plaintiff seeking to sue non-prosecutorial officials alleged to be responsible 17 post-complaint for the arrest or prosecution [must] show the absence of probable cause." Beck v. City 18 of Upland, 527 F.3d 853, 865 (9th Cir. 2008)). Although probable cause is "incapable of precise
19 definition or quantification," Maryland v. Pringle, 540 U.S. 366, 371, 124 S.Ct. 795, 157 L.Ed.2d 769 20 (2003), it is widely understood that "[p]robable cause to arrest exists when officers have knowledge or 21 reasonably trustworthy information sufficient to lead a person of reasonable caution to believe that an 22 offense has been or is being committed by the person being arrested," United States v. Lopez, 482
23 F.3d 1067, 1072 (9th Cir. 2007) (citing Beck v. Ohio, 379 U.S. 89, 91 (1964)); accord Edgerly v. City
24 and Cnty. of S.F., 599 F.3d 946, 953 (9th Cir. 2010).

25 Plaintiff argues that his false arrest and false imprisonment violate his Fourth Amendment 26 rights. Compl. at ¶¶ 1 at 1, 27 at 7, 30 at 8, 32 at 9, 37 at 9. Plaintiff's Fourth Amendment claim is 27 derivative of his false arrest claim. To survive a motion to dismiss, Plaintiff must set out a plausible
28

1 claim that his Fourth Amendment rights were violated based on his false arrest,<sup>9</sup> which give rise to 2 section 1983 liability in depriving him of his constitutional rights. Plaintiff's Complaint alleges that 3 he was falsely arrested and falsely imprisoned without probable cause on two separate occasions: (1)
 4 the traffic arrest on September 3, 2011 (first claim) and (2) the house arrest on February 13, 2012
 5 (fourth claim).

6 a. First Claim: Traffic Arrest on September 3, 2011

7 Plaintiff was stopped, detained, and after about forty minutes, arrested by Hobbs who claimed
 8 Plaintiff resisted arrest. Compl. ¶ 7 at 5. Plaintiff alleges that while detained, Hobbs told Plaintiff
 9 that he "needed to stop doing paperwork. That isn't good for you. You should stop." Id. Plaintiff also 10 states that prior to his arrest, he was issued a Verbal Notice and a traffic citation, both of which he did
 11 not sign. Plaintiff was imprisoned in Lake County Jail for four days until his release without charges 12 on September 7, 2011. Id. at ¶ 24 at 7.

13 Defendants argue that they did not violate Plaintiff's constitutional rights because he was 14 lawfully arrested for refusing to give a written promise to appear in court in violation of Cal. Veh.
 15 Code § 40302(b). Motion at 7-8. Defendants argue that Plaintiff was held for four days because he 16 was arrested on the Saturday before Labor Day and he was released a day after the courts reopened on 17 Tuesday, September 6, 2011. Furthermore, Defendants assert that the fact that Plaintiff was released
 18 without charges is immaterial because the District Attorney's office is the one who determines 19 whether Plaintiff should be charged and their burden of proof (beyond a reasonable doubt) is 20 significantly higher than the police officer's burden (probable cause). Motion at 8.

21 While it is unclear why Plaintiff was stopped and detained and whether Defendant Hobbs had 22 probable cause,<sup>10</sup> Plaintiff was arrested solely for not signing his traffic citation and resisting arrest.

25 <sup>9</sup> Plaintiff also makes a Fourth Amendment, "search and seizure claim," based on the alleged conspiracy to cause loss of 26 property (third claim). This third claim is discussed below in section D, "Conspiracy and Retaliation under section 1985."
 Since that claim should be dismissed with leave to amend, Plaintiff is not currently able to sufficiently state a Fourth
 Amendment, "search and seizure claim."

27 <sup>10</sup> Defendants' Case Management Statement indicates that Plaintiff was initially stopped while on his bicycle for going 28 north in southbound lanes separated by yellow double solid lines in violation of Cal. Veh. Code § 21460. (Dkt. No. 19, Defendant's Case Management Statement at 2-3).

1 Plaintiff was then held in Lake County Jail for four days before being released without charges,<sup>11</sup>
 2 although it is also unclear whether a probable cause determination was made within forty eight hours
 3 of the warrantless arrest. Furthermore, Defendants have not provided Plaintiff with a copy of his 4 traffic citation. Taking such allegations as true, Plaintiff has sufficiently alleged a lack of probable
 5 cause as there was no specific reason for Officer Middleton to arrest him for "resisting arrest." It
 6 appears that Defendants may have also unreasonably delayed Plaintiff's probable cause determination
 7 as he was held for four days before his release without charges.<sup>12</sup> For these reasons, the Court
 8 DENIES the Motion to Dismiss the fourth claim for false arrest and false imprisonment.

9 b. Fourth Claim: House Arrest on February 13, 2012

10 Plaintiff was arrested for "resisting arrest" by Officer Middleton within five minutes of 11 opening the front door of his home. Compl. at ¶ 18 at 6. Plaintiff alleges that after he opened his 12 door, Officer Middleton identified himself and began asking Plaintiff a series of personal questions.
 13 Id. at ¶ 19 at 6. Officer Middleton told Plaintiff that he "would not yell across the fence at his 14 neighbors" in violation of the temporary restraining order placed by his neighbor. Id. Plaintiff alleges 15 that he had not been served and when he sought to inquire further, Officer Middleton placed him in 16 handcuffs and arrested him (although Plaintiff notes that Officer Middleton later asserted that he was 17 just being detained). Id. Plaintiff was imprisoned in Lake County Jail for two days until his release
 18 without charges on February 15, 2012. Id. at ¶ 34 at 9.

19 Taking as true the allegations in the Complaint, Plaintiff has sufficiently alleged a lack of 20 probable cause. Plaintiff alleges he was unaware of a temporary restraining order and merely inquired
 21 as to the purpose of the officer's visit. Based on the allegations, the officer did not observe Plaintiff

22 <sup>11</sup> Defendants' Case Management Statement indicates that after Plaintiff was booked into jail, Judge Hedstrom advised
 23 Hobbs to solely charge Plaintiff with the California Vehicle violations: sections 40302(b) (for not signing a promise to 24 appear in court) and 21460 (for going north in southbound lanes separated by yellow double solid lines). Hobbs did not 25 send the police report for the "resisting arrest" violation under Cal. Pen. Code § 148. Defendant's Case Management 26 Statement at 2-3.

27 <sup>12</sup>An individual arrested without a warrant "shall in all cases be taken before the magistrate without unnecessary delay, and 28 in any event, within 48 hours after his or her arrest, excluding Sundays and holidays." Cal. Pen. Code §§ 825, 849; See also County of Riverside v. McLaughlin, 500 U.S. 44, 56-57 (1991) (A probable cause determination provided within 48 hours may still be unreasonable. Examples of unreasonable delay are delays for the purpose of gathering additional evidence to justify the arrest, delay motivated by ill will, or delay for delay's sake. When an arrested individual does not receive a probable cause determination within 48 hours, the burden of proving an unreasonable delay shifts to the government).

1 breaking the alleged temporary restraining order, and did not possess a valid underlying basis for 2 arrest. Therefore, Plaintiff could not be deemed to have "resisted" such an arrest. Further, as alleged,
3 Plaintiff was arrested for a public disturbance in his own private home. For these reasons, the Court
4 DENIES the Motion to Dismiss the fourth claim for false arrest and false imprisonment.

5 3. Eighth Amendment Claim: "Cruel and Unusual Punishment"

6 Plaintiff argues that Defendants violated his Eighth Amendment rights by causing him
7 "imprisonment without probable cause [and] subjected [him] to acts and practices constituting 'cruel
8 and unusual punishment.'" Compl. at ¶ 27 at 7-8. The Eighth Amendment generally "applies to 9 prisoners" in prohibiting cruel and unusual punishment. Gomez v. City of Fremont, 730 F. Supp. 2d 10 1056, 1058-1059 (N.D. Cal. 2010) (citing Hudson v. McMillian, 503 U.S. 1, 6-7 (1992)). According 11 to the Supreme Court, the Eighth Amendment's prohibition of "cruel and unusual punishment" applies
12 only "after conviction and sentence." Lee v. City of Los Angeles, 250 F.3d 668, 686 (9th Cir. 2001)
13 (citing Graham v. Connor, 490 U.S. 386, 393 & n.6 (1989) (internal citations omitted)). Since pretrial
14 detainees "are not convicted prisoners," they are not accorded any rights under the Eighth
15 Amendment. Id. (citing Carnell v. Grimm, 74 F.3d 977, 979, 9th Cir. 1996). Rather their rights arise 16 under the Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment. Id. (citing Revere v. Massachusetts 17 Gen. Hosp., 463 U.S. 239, 244 (1983)). Since Plaintiff is not a convicted prisoner, the Eighth 18 Amendment does not apply to Plaintiff (although Plaintiff could raise a claim for Due Process under 19 the Fourteenth Amendment). Accordingly, Plaintiff's Eighth Amendment claim is DISMISSED
20 WITHOUT LEAVE TO AMEND as it is not a legally cognizable claim.

21 4. Fourteenth Amendment Claim: "Due Process"

22 Plaintiff's allegation that Defendants violated his due process rights under the Fourteenth 23 Amendment is derivative of his Fourth Amendment claim based on his alleged false arrest. The 24 Supreme Court has held that an arrestee's incarceration based on a warrant without probable cause
25 does not violate his substantive due process rights, but rather implicates his Fourth Amendment rights.
26 Albright v. Oliver, 510 U.S. 266, 274-275 (1994). Therefore, Plaintiff's due process claim is 27 duplicative and is DISMISSED WITHOUT LEAVE TO AMEND because the Court already addresses his 28 false arrest in his Fourth Amendment claim above.

5. Fourteenth Amendment Claim: "Equal Protection"

Plaintiff alleges that Defendants violated his rights to Equal Protection by conspiring to cause his false arrest and loss of personal property because of his "race, political and/or religious beliefs as retaliation of [his] Activistic activities." Compl. at ¶¶ 29, 31 at 8. To state a claim for violation of Equal Protection under the Fourteenth Amendment, a plaintiff must allege that the individual defendants, acting under color of state law "acted in a discriminatory manner and that the discrimination was intentional." Reese v. Jefferson Sch. Dist. No. 14J, 208 F.3d 736, 740 (9th Cir. 2000). A "long line of Supreme Court cases make clear that the Equal Protection clause requires proof of discriminatory intent or motive." Navarro v. Block, 72 F.3d 712, 716 (9th Cir. 1995). Plaintiff must show that such discriminatory intent was "based upon his membership in a protected class." Haines, 2011 WL 6014459, at *11 (internal citations omitted) (finding that plaintiff failed to provide a factual basis that anyone else similarly situated was treated any differently than himself).

Plaintiff's Complaint fails to allege any facts of discriminatory intent. Plaintiff does not indicate whether he is part of a protected class nor does he explain how he was treated differently from any other members of a protected class.<sup>13</sup> Because Plaintiff's claim, as written, does not state a plausible claim for discriminatory intent or different treatment based on race, his claim is DISMISSED. However, the Court grants this dismissal WITH LEAVE TO AMEND. If Plaintiff seeks to re-allege this claim, Plaintiff must provide a factual basis regarding his racial background, political and religious activities, and/or personal beliefs and specify how Defendants intentionally singled him out based on such background, activities, and/or beliefs. These facts must be stated sufficiently such that the Court may reasonably infer that there is a plausible claim.

C. 1981 Claim: "Racial Discrimination"

Plaintiff asserts a section 1981 claim based on the claim arising from his alleged false arrest on September 3, 2011. Compl. at ¶ 38 at 10. To establish a claim under section 1981, Plaintiff must allege facts showing: (1) the plaintiff is a member of a racial minority; (2) an intent to discriminate on the basis of race by the defendant; and (3) the discrimination concerned one or more of the activities

<sup>13</sup> Plaintiff's Complaint does not indicate his racial background, political activities or personal beliefs. However, in his Opposition, Plaintiff argues that Defendant Middleton had a discriminatory motive because Plaintiff "was a black man questioning the white officer about why the white officer was asking personal questions of the black man." Oppo. at 5.

1 enumerated in the statute. Probit Ins. Servs., Inc. v. United Agricultural Benefit Trust, No. 10-CV-
2 3500 PSG, 2011 WL 1936581, at *2 (N.D. Cal. May 20, 2011) (citing Mian v. Donaldson, Lufkin &

3 Jenrette Secs. Corp., 7 F.3d 1085, 1087 (2nd Cir.1993)).

4 Like his Equal Protection claim above, Plaintiff fails to allege facts supporting the conclusion
5 that Defendants intended to discriminate; nor does he show that Defendants actually discriminated
6 against him on the basis of race. Plaintiff also does not indicate in his Complaint that he is a member
7 of a racial minority and does not show Defendant acted with discriminatory intent. Because Plaintiff's
8 claim, as written, does not state a plausible claim for racial discrimination, his claim is DISMISSED
9 WITH LEAVE TO AMEND. If Plaintiff seeks to re-allege this claim, he must provide a factual basis 10 regarding each of the elements of the claim.

11 D. Second and Third Claims: "Conspiracy and Retaliation" under Section 1985

12 To establish a civil conspiracy claim under section 1985(3), a plaintiff must allege facts in 13 support of the following elements: (1) a conspiracy, (2) an intent to deprive a person of equal 14 protection of the law; (3) an act in furtherance of the conspiracy; (4) whereby a person is injured in his 15 person, property, or deprived of a civil right. United Bhd. of Carpenters, Local 610 v. Scott, 463 U.S.
16 825, 828-829 (1983). To establish the second element, a plaintiff must show that the conspiracy must 17 be motivated by "some racial or perhaps otherwise-class based, invidious discriminatory animus 18 behind the conspirator's actions." Id. at 829 (internal citations and quotations omitted).

19 To survive a 12(b)(6) for a civil conspiracy claim, a plaintiff must "provide some factual basis 20 to support the existence of the elements of a conspiracy: [1] agreement and [2] concerted action."
21 Crabtree v. Muchmore, 904 F.2d 1475, 1480-81 (10th Cir. 1990). The agreement need not be overt,
22 but can be inferred from circumstantial evidence such as allegations that show that defendants' acts
23 were unlikely to occur without an agreement. Mendocino Envtl. Ctr. v. Mendocino County, 192 F.3d
24 1283, 1301 (9th Cir. 1999). A plaintiff "must make more than a mere allegation that [d]efendants . . .
25 engaged in conduct of conspiracy"; rather, he must "plead some factual basis showing agreement
26 between the parties." Cunningham v. North Versailles, 2010 WL 391380, at *6 (W.D. Penn. Jan. 27, 27 2010); see also Comm. for Immigrant Rights of Sonoma County v. County of Sonoma, 644 F. Supp. 2d 28

1 1177, 1204 (N.D. Cal. 2009).<sup>14</sup> He need not show that each participant knew "the exact details of the 2 plan, but each participant must at least share the common objective of the conspiracy." Franklin v.
 3 Fox, 312 F.3d 423, 441 (9th Cir. 2002).

4 Plaintiff alleges that the Defendants "conspired, contrived, engineered and/or acted to cause"
 5 his arrest and imprisonment and loss of personal property due to his "race, political and /or religious 6 beliefs as retaliation for [his] Activistic activities within Lake County." Compl. at ¶¶ 29 at 8, 31 at 8.
 7 Plaintiff bases his both his conspiracy claims on (1) Defendant Hobbs' comment regarding paperwork,
 8 and (2) Plaintiff's failed attempt to acquire a copy of the citation and verbal notice. Compl. at ¶¶ 8 at 9 5, 17 at 6. Plaintiff contends that Hobbs' paperwork comment shows that he had some type of motive
 10 against him. Defendants argue that Plaintiff's allegations are vague and conclusory and fail to provide 11 any factual basis to show that Defendants were motivated by racial discriminatory animus. Motion at 12 5-6.

13 The Court agrees that Plaintiff's claims are devoid of sufficient factual allegations. Plaintiff
 14 fails to establish the first element of showing that there was a conspiracy by Defendants and each of 15 the individually named defendants. Hobbs' "paperwork comment" during Plaintiff's detention does 16 not show, in and of itself, that Hobbs had agreed with each of the other Defendants to arrest Plaintiff
 17 or take his personal property. Defendants' denial of giving Plaintiff a copy of his citation, without 18 more, also does not show any type of agreement or concerted action between the Defendants. While 19 Plaintiff is able to allege with specificity all items that were stolen during the four-day period he was 20 incarcerated, Plaintiff does not allege any facts showing that it is any more plausible that Defendants,
 21 rather than a third party, took Plaintiff's personal property. Plaintiff also fails to establish the second 22 element of showing discriminatory animus. As stated above, the Complaint lacks facts showing 23 discriminatory motive to deprive Plaintiff of his constitutional rights. Not only is it unclear what 24 Plaintiffs' beliefs or activities are, but there are no facts regarding how Defendants knew about those 25 beliefs or activities.

26
 27 <sup>14</sup> In that case, the court found that plaintiff's allegations that defendants targeted Latinos who were criminal gang
 28 members and adopted an unlawful policy of relying on race to stop, detain and question people who appear to be Latino regarding their immigration status failed to show an agreement or meeting of the minds to deprive plaintiff of constitutional rights.

1 Plaintiff's civil conspiracy claims are DISMISSED WITH LEAVE TO AMEND. If Plaintiff seeks to 2 re-allege this claim, Plaintiff must provide a factual basis for each of the elements of the claim.

3 E. Claims Regarding Individually Named Defendants Based on Qualified Immunity

4 Defendants argue that Plaintiff's claims against Clausen, Celli, Hobbs and Middleton should 5 be dismissed because they are entitled to qualified immunity. Motion at 6-7. Qualified immunity 6 protects government officials "from liability for civil damages insofar as their conduct does not 7 violate clearly established statutory or constitutional rights of which a reasonable person would have 8 known." Harlow v. Fitzgerald, 457 U.S. 800, 818 (1982). A public official's shield of qualified 9 immunity is lost only if a plaintiff can establish both that (1) taken in the light most favorable to the 10 party asserting injury, the facts alleged show that the officer's conduct violated a constitutional right,
 11 and (2) the right at issue was "clearly established" at the time of the defendant's alleged misconduct.<sup>15</sup>
 12 Saucier v. Katz, 533 U.S. 194, 201 (2001), overruled in part on other grounds by Pearson v.
 13 Callahan, 555 U.S. 223 (2009).

14 Qualified immunity may be raised as a defense in a 12(b)(6) motion. Buckheit, 713 F. Supp.
 15 2d at 927. When "a plaintiff asserts a Fourth Amendment violation based on the absence of probable 16 cause, the relevant inquiry with respect to the 'clearly established' prong of the qualified immunity 17 analysis is 'whether a reasonable officer could have believed that probable cause existed to arrest the 18 plaintiff.' Id. at 926 (internal citations and quotations omitted). At this procedural stage, the Court
 19 must consider Plaintiff's allegations to be true. He alleges a violation of his Fourth Amendment right
 20 to be free from arrest without probable cause. U.S. Const. amend. IV. The Court finds this to be a 21 "clearly established" right, and therefore, declines to dismiss Plaintiff's allegations on grounds of 22 qualified immunity.

23 F. Punitive Damages Claims

24 Plaintiff requests punitive damages based on the allegation that Defendants "knowingly,
 25 willfully, maliciously and with deliberate indifference and/or intentional disregard" caused Plaintiff's
 26 injuries. Compl. at ¶ 37 at 9. Defendants argue that public entities are immune to punitive damages

27
 28 <sup>15</sup> The Court has the discretion to decide "which of the two prongs of the qualified immunity analysis should be addressed first in light of the circumstances in the particular case at hand." Pearson, 555 U.S. at 236.

1 under California State Law based on Cal. Gov. Code. § 818 ("a public entity is not liable for damages
2 awarded under Section 3294 of the Civil Code or other damages imposed primarily for the sake of 3 example and by way of punishing the defendant." Motion at 9. Defendants also note that 4 municipalities are immune from punitive damages under section 1983. Id. (citing City of Newport v.
5 Fact Concerts, Inc. 453 U.S. 247, 271 (1981)).

6 Plaintiff cannot collect punitive damages for any violation of section 1983 against 7 municipalities, the City or the Police Department. City of Newport, 453 U.S. at 271 (1981).
8 Furthermore, Defendants are also immune from punitive damages under state law. See Cal. Gov.
9 Code. § 818; Willingham v. City of San Leandro, No. C-06-3744 MMC, 2006 WL 3734633, at *3
10 (N.D. Cal. Dec. 18, 2006) (court held plaintiff who sued city for false arrest could not seek punitive
11 damages from a municipality under section 1983 based on City of Newport and Cal. Gov. Code §
12 818); Committee for Immigrant Rights of Sonoma County, 644 F. Supp. 2d 1177 at 1208 ("[a]ny 13 amended complaint may not include a request for punitive damages that is directed at the County").
14 Further, the other two individually named Defendants, Clausen and Celli, are only sued in their 15 official capacity. Compl. at ¶¶ 8-9 at 3. Accordingly, Plaintiff may collect punitive damages only 16 against individual defendants Hobbs and Middleton because they are sued in both their individual and 17 official capacities. Smith v. Wade, 461 U.S. 30, 35 (1983) ("individual public officers [are] liable for 18 punitive damages"). The Court dismisses Plaintiff's claim for punitive damages as directed to the 19 City, Clausen, and Celli, but not to individual defendants, Hobbs and Middleton.

20 III. CONCLUSION

21 For the foregoing reasons, the Court GRANTS IN PART AND DENIES IN PART Defendants' Motion
22 to Dismiss. More specifically, the Court rules as follows:

- 23 1. DENIES Defendants' Motion to Dismiss as to that portion of the First Claim for false arrest
24 and false imprisonment under the Fourth Amendment for the September 3, 2011 traffic
25 arrest;
- 26 2. DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND as to that portion of the Second Claim for conspiracy
27 and retaliation for false arrest under section 1985(3);

28

1           3. DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND as to that portion of the Third Claim for conspiracy
2           and retaliation for cause of loss of personal property under section 1985(3);
3           4. DENIES the Motion to Dismiss as to that portion of the Fourth Claim for false arrest and
4           false imprisonment under the Fourth Amendment for February 13, 2012 house arrest.
5           5. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include a 1983 Claim against the
6           City based upon Monell v. Dep't of Soc. Servs., 436 U.S. 658, 690 (1978) ("Monell"). The
7           Court therefore DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND the section 1983 Monell claim
8           against the City.
9           6. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include an Eighth Amendment
10           Claim based upon the False Imprisonment Claims. The Court therefore DISMISSES
11           WITHOUT LEAVE TO AMEND the Eighth Amendment Claim for Cruel and Unusual
12           Punishment.
13           7. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include a Fourteenth Amendment
14           Claim for violation of Equal Protection based upon the False Arrest Claims. The Court
15           therefore DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND the Fourteenth Amendment Claim for Equal
16           Protection.
17           8. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include a Fourteenth Amendment
18           Claim for violation of Due Process based upon the False Arrest Claims. The Court
19           therefore DISMISSES WITHOUT LEAVE TO AMEND the Fourteenth Amendment Claim for 20           Due Process.
21           9. Liberally construed, the Court reads the Complaint to include a 1981 Claim based upon the
22           False Arrest Claims. The Court therefore DISMISSES WITH LEAVE TO AMEND the 1981
23           Claim for Racial Discrimination under the Color of Law.
24           10. DENIES the Motion to Dismiss Defendants Clausen, Celli, Hobbs and Middleton based on
25           Qualified Immunity.
26           11. GRANTS THE MOTION TO STRIKE the Punitive Damages claim as against Defendants the
27           City, Clausen, and Celli. DENIES THE MOTION TO STRIKE as against Hobbs and 28           Middleton.

1 Plaintiff may amend his Complaint only to the extent provided in this Order. Plaintiff may not
2 attempt to revive any claim dismissed herein. Moreover, he may not add any new claims to the First
3 Amended Complaint (“FAC”). Plaintiff’s FAC shall be filed by within twenty-right (28) days of this 4 Order. Defendants’ response shall be filed within twenty-eight (28) days of receipt of the FAC.

5 This Order terminates Dkt. No 15.

6 IT IS SO ORDERED.
